FURNITURE SALE!

San Francisco and the entire State of California now talk about the great retiring sale of the Pattosien Company. The fact that so many hotels and housekeepers are reaping the harvest on account of the extraordinary low prices in fine Furniture, Carpets and Draperies, makes people talk about it. Many have bought Furniture, though their homes are just being built. Those who have no place to store their furniture can leave it at the store for two months to come free of charge. No one should lose time, but should take advantage of the $250,000.00 retiring sale, which happens but once in a lifetime.

MEETING AN AUTHOR.

Robert Barr's Visit to His Friend Captain Mayne Reid.

Robert Barr, the author, told with glee how Captain Mayne Reid, who was a friend of his, came to London and sent his address to Barr. The latter started to call on Reid. He did not know the street and, asking a bus man if his vehicle passed such and such a street, was assured that it did. In due course he came upon the street. In his letter Mayne Reid said he had taken a corner house in this street and added that he had a delightful garden and a high wall. "When I got down from the bus," says Mr. Barr, "I found that the corner house had a high wall and doubtless behind it a delightful garden, which answered perfectly the description which Captain Mayne Reid had given me.

"I said to a policemen, because I wanted to be sure, 'Could you tell me where Mr. Reid lives?' And he answered, 'Do you mean Mr. Reid, the author?' And I replied, 'Yes.' So the policeman pointed to the premises I had already selected as the residence of my friend. Therefore I went through the gate without [illegible] and rang the bell at the residence, which stood some distance back in the garden. I was admitted and asked if Mr. Reid was at home. I was told that he was and was shown into a room on the left hand side of the passage. Waiting there some time, an old, slippered man came in, whom I did not recognize.

"'Do you wish to see me?' he asked. I rose from my chair and replied, 'I have called to see Captain Mayne Reid.' 'I beg your pardon,' he said very frigidly, 'I am Charles Reade,' with which he turned his back upon me and left me there alone. That was the only time I had the pleasure of meeting one of England's greatest authors. Captain Mayne Reid had taken a corner house in a street of the same name in Maida Vale, some miles from where Mr. Charles Reade resided during his last days."

THE MODEL GUEST.

He Knows Just When, What and How to Do or Not to Do.

A really fine specimen of the guest who does his best has a spirit which cannot be broken by weather or weariness. He can manage to talk to any one, even if he should discover with a shock that he is sitting next to his worst enemy. He knows how to come into any discussion and how to keep out of it. He does not seek his own amusement, yet he never fails to show that he is amused. He is tolerant of every opinion, and though he may have many convictions of his own and may state them so as to do them justice he never tries to proselytize.

His visit is not a mission, and he never for a moment fancies himself on the hustings, in a debating society, a pulpit or a court of justice. Above all, he has a good opinion of himself. Good wine needs no bush. He has no desire to boast, but he is certain that he will not be slighted. If his hostess assigns to him a dull job he is sure it is because she thought he could do it well, and if he feels it to be really below his powers he takes her mistake into account not while he is under her roof, but when he next receives her kind invitation. He is not plagued by that craving of the oversensitive to be like their company nor does he belong to that race of born dissenters who would always rather be different.

But, alas, conscience and talent do not always go together. There are some high principled guests who are terrible bores. In their solicitude to be agreeable they never stop talking, but pursue their garrulous ideal like a dog following a carriage. To every interruption they give immediate but momentary attention and run breathless on.—London Outlook.

An Apt Quotation.

The readiness of repartee of Thomas B. Reed was never better illustrated than on one occasion when he went to visit a friend who lived at the top of a long and narrow flight of stairs. Half way up Reed missed his footing and fell to the bottom. His friend, hearing the racket, rushed to the door and shouted down the semidarkness of the hall, "Who is that?"

"'Tis Elser rolling rapidly," drawled the man from Maine as he picked himself up.

BAKED APPLES.

The Way to Make a Convenient and Delicious Dessert.

The difference between apple sauce stewed quickly over the fire and that baked slowly for several hours in a moderate oven is so great that one could easily believe that different fruits had been used. Each method, if carefully followed, produces a delicious result, and while some persons have a strong preference for one or the other, to my mind it is difficult to decide which is the better way. Therefore it is well to use both methods, cooking the first apples that come in midsummer by stewing, and later, when the cool days of early autumn make a fire less objectionable, trying the baking.

The dish for baking is as important as that for beans baked properly and also for Indian puddings, and should be the same in style and material. Cut the fruit (and you may use in this way any kind of apples or pears which are too green or hard to use uncooked) into quarters; then remove the cores and skins. Allow one cup of sugar and one-half cup of water to two quarts of fruit. The amount will vary with different apples, and it is important not to use too much sugar, for the long cooking seems to develop the natural sweetness of the fruit. Cover them closely and cook in a slow oven four or five hours or until they have a deep rich red color. If they cook too fast, the steam will cause them to burst and run over the edge and result in a mushy sauce, but a moderate heat, long continued, will leave each quarter distinct in the clear sirup. Let it cool in the pan and turn it out without any stirring of the fruit. This may be poured at once into sterilized jars and sealed the same as canned fruit, if you are not likely to use it all soon. As a sauce for a breakfast or dinner it is acceptable; with cream and hot biscuit for supper it is delicious, and as a filling for pastry shells it is convenient.—Home Science Magazine.

The Hedgehog.

The hedgehog runs the roads in England freely. He is a quaint little fellow, our hedgehog, having far more intelligence than people give him credit for. It is curious, as you stand perfectly still in the middle of the road, to see him come running along, then stopping to sniff and whine and examine the high, strange object that hardly breathes lest he startle the little creature. Then, with a gentle grunt, he will pass you by. A very low yet decided grunt he gives, and he whines as well.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Woman's Duties.

A woman who keeps her house in order and has the care of a family, has just as much responsibility as the man who provides the means to carry on the housekeeping. She is the deserving of the more credit since the demands on her strength are greater. The everlasting sameness about her duties, and the confinement necessary to carry them out is very trying to the nervous system, this produces a strain on the mind that makes her irritable, cross, and dissatisfied, which is just as much a disease as rheumatism or catarrh. If the nerves can be built up and made strong by medicine of some kind, this feeling is changed to one of cheerfulness and pleasure in her duties. The medicine that makes strong steady nerves, and prevents disease by building up the entire system, is Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic, a tablet to take at meal time. Cures nervous prostration by making rich blood, feeding the nerves, and making solid flesh at the rate of 1 to 3 pounds a week. This medicine is sold by druggists for 75 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $2, or sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price. Write us about your case. Address Dr. Bosanko Medicine Company, 128 S. Sixth street, Philadelphia, Penn.

What Time Proves.

This thing of being sick and looking for a cure is a mighty serious business. People are not given to joking even at the first symptom of the approach of the grim destroyer. They do not want to be the subjects of experiment, but want medicine that had the test of years behind it. A medicine that has been made and used for 20 years gives assurance of its worth, and can be taken with a faith that they have the very best cure the world affords. All this can be said about Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills as a remedy for sick-headache, dyspepsia, and indigestion, it begins right at the source of the trouble and the removes the cause. We will send a sample box of these pills free, or a full box on receipt of 25 cents. Sold by all druggists for 25 cents per box, or address Dr. Bosanko Medicine Company, 128 S. WORTH THE PRICE.

What has Uncle Sam actually bought or contracted to buy at Panama? Let us take account of stock. These are the items: Thirty thousand acres of ground at terminals and along the route. Two thousand four hundred and thirty-one buildings, including offices, quarters, storehouses, shops, hospitals and terminol sheds. An immense collection of dredges, tugs, barges, excavators, cars, locomotives and other machinery and appliances, not considered of much present value. Work done by the old and the new French companies, with an estimated removal of about 36,000,000 cubic yards of material at a cost of a little more than $88,600,000. Maps and drawings and records gathered by the French engineers, valued at $2,000,000. The Panama railway, including three steamships. Upon the whole, we are not paying too dear for our whistle.

GOT HIS SHARE.

Back in the seventies, when Dewey had command of a ship of the old Hartford type, he was lying in the harbor off Genoa. Visitors were allowed on Board at all times except Sunday morning, at which time inspection took place. One Sunday a well-known American millionaire steamed out with a party of friends in his private yacht and succeeded in getting on deck. where he was met by Captain Dewey, who asked him to leave. Mr. Money remonstrated, and, finally, exasperated by the cool firmness of the officer, he burst out:

"No, sir, I won't leave. I am an American citizen, and have a perfect right on this vessel. I pay taxes in America; I am on my own property; part of this ship belongs to me!"

Calmly Dewey opened his penknife, stooped down, and split off a piece of the deck flooring. Handing it to the incensed American citizen he replied,—

"There's about what you own, and there's the ladder—now git!"

And he got.—March Lippincott's

THE CRAZE FOR RADIUM.

Radium is fast becoming a nuisance, and nothing will save us from it but the discovery of an inexhaustible mine of the substance, the inevitable formation of a company and quotation on the Stock Exchange, says the London Court Journal. Only when all romance has been knocked out of it in this way shall we be free from radium at homes. radium wedding presents, radium hidden, radium exhibited and radium on the dust heap. It is no wonder that Sir Oliver Lodge is said to be overwhelmed by radium.

About the worst mixed-up mess of news received from the seat of war in the Far East is that of what purports to have been a naval battle at Port Arthur Wednesday morning. When the various accounts are sifted it would seem that a Japanese Hobson tried to bottle up the Russian fleet by sinking two steamers laden with stone at the mouth of Port Arthur harbor. The Russians opened fire from warships and fort upon the two advancing hulks, sinking them before they reached their intended destination. It is likely that these were the two Japanese "transports" reported to have been sunk. There was undoubtedly a naval battle between the Russians and Japanese on that occasion but with what result is not yet known on this side of the world.

Rev. A. A. Gibbon will leave within the next three weeks for his old home in Virginia. Mr. Gibbon had intended making the visit in May, but because of the illness of one of his sisters he will take the trip at this earlier date. He will remain in the East for two, or perhaps three months.

The work of repair at the Dingee place still continues. The house at the gate has been remodeled and several additional rooms added, and the exterior covered with slate shingles. To the rear of the residence the rockery presents a very pretty appearance, a series of waterfalls have been constructed which are supplied by water from the reservoir and which in turn feed the lakes further to the rear. The little streams caused by the falls are crossed by rustic bridges that lead to a beautiful little summer house made of redwood limbs. The grounds around this structure are tastily arranged and present a neat appearance. Mr. Dingee is certainly preparing an ideal country home.

JACK FORD CAPTURES A MATE

Ships For a Long Cruise on the Sea of Matrimony.

There never was a goose so gray,
But some day, soon or late,
An honest gander came that way
And took her for his mate.

John Ford treated his Redwood friends to a genuine surprise this week by forsaking the ranks of the bachelors and joining the great army of the blessed. Even the best friends of the genial Jack were not aware that he, after 53 years of single cussedness, would take up the duties of a married man, but "Cupid moves in wonderous ways, his wonders to perform," and so when one of his firy darts struck Jack's heart it penetrated the thick coating and lodged in a tender spot.

Mrs. Ford was formerly a Redwood girl and was known to her schoolmates as Miss Mary Martson. She married a Mr. Long, who died about a year ago. Some months since she met Mr. Ford, who now has a good position in San Francisco, and the old friendship was renewed, which culminated in the happy event of Wednesday. Mr. Ford is well known here and has many friends who wish him much joy in his wedded life.

Light Companies Combine.

An important financial deal took place in San Francisco last Monday by which the entire plants of the Standard Electric Company and the United Gas and Electric Company pass into the control of the California Gas and Electric Corporation of San Francisco. Prior to the transaction of Monday the California Company had acquired by purchase eighteen other companies, which, with its last acquisition, gives it an almost complete monopoly of the State. Eugene De Sabla Jr., who resided at Fair Oaks last year is the president of the new corporation, and E. W. Hopkins and J. Henry Meyer of Menlo Park are among the directors. The largest of the sub-stations of the United Gas and Electric Company is situated here.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT.

Mrs. Weisshar Loses Suit Against Kimball Steamship Company.

The United States Circuit Court on Tuesday handed down a decision in the case of Ella M. Weisshar against the Kimball Steamship Company reversing the decision of the lower court that gave judgment to the defendant. Mrs. Weisshar brought the suit in the United States District Court to recover damages for the loss of her husband, Louis Weisshar, whom she alleges was drowned through the negligence of the steamship company.

During September, 1900, while the steamer Albion was lying in Golovin bay, on the coast of Alaska, a small boat put out under command of the second officer to take passengers on board from the shore. The boat capsized on the return trip and Weisshar was drowned. The widow sued the company for $40,000 damages because of the loss of her husband. Judge De Haven ruled that, inasmuch as Weisshar entered the boat when it was overcrowded, and stood up in it when he thought that there was danger, he was guilty of contributory negligence. On these grounds a judgment was given in favor of the company.

The higher Court, is passing upon the ruling said: "The judgment is reversed and the cause remanded, with directions to the Court below to dismiss the petition at the petitioner's cost, leaving the administratrix of the estate of the deceased Weisshaar at liberty to persue her action for damages in the State court."

PREPARE FOR THE FRAY.

Make Ready for Battle of Ballots by Attending to Registration.

The city election is only a few weeks away, but under the law there remains less than forty days in which to register. The statute provides that registration shall begin on January 1st of each year and shall be in progress at all times, except during the forty days immediately preceding any election when it shall cease regarding electors residing in the territory within which the election is to be held. The old register shall be used until the new one is completed.

It appears that up-to-date registration has not been as heavy as it should be. As usual many of our citizens are waiting until the last moment to register. The consequence of that always is a great rush during the last few days, in which many got left.

Don't put off your civic duty. Go and register now and have it off your mind and conscience. Forty days will slip away before you realize it. Now is the accepted time. Never put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day.

All electors desiring to vote at the fall election and the municipal election next April should register at once. For the accommodation of voters County Clerk H. W. Schaberg has appointed the following deputies throughout the county:

Baden — E. E. Cunningham, C. L. Kaufman.
Belmont—W. A. Emmett.
Colma—C. J. Adams, B. S. Greene.
La Honda—C. A. Cavalli.
Menlo Park—Jas. G. Mason, John H. O'Keefe.
Millbrae—Terrence Masterson.
Pescadero—J. C. Williamson, Elisha Leighton.
Purissima—C. P. Mosconi.
San Gregorio—Frank Bell.
San Mateo, John P. Weller, R. H. Jury.
Halfmoon Bay — John Pitcher, Thos. C. Johnston.
First Township—R. J. Carroll.

Death of Mrs. G. W. Griffiths.

Mrs. James Crowe received the sad news late Saturday morning of the death of her old friend Mrs. Geo. W. Griffiths, who passed away the night previous in Santa Ana. Mrs. Griffiths had been ill for a long time and death came as a release from her suffering. She was well known here, having been with her husband on the Hopkins ranch, of which Mr. Griffiths was superintendent. Since leaving here for Santa Ana she has been a frequent visitor at the home of Mr. Crowe, and this kept alive the ties that bound her to her former home. Mrs. Griffith was an estimable woman and was active in all the benevolences of her neighborhood. She was a good wife, a loving mother and a true neighbor. The funeral took place in Santa Ana Monday. Besides her husband Mrs. Griffiths left to mourn her loss one daughter, Mrs. Kate Wickersham of Petaluma and four married sons—Charles, George, Will and Walter, all of whom reside in Southern California.

IN MEMORIAM.

Services of Respect for Departed Allie Glennan.

The memorial service at the Congregational church Wednesday night packed that edifice to the doors. The occasion of the gathering was to do homage to the memory of Albion H. Glennan, who was so cruelly murdered in the Hawaiian Islands last January. The members of the bereaved family occupied the front seat and just behind them were the members of the Odd Fellows, who adjourned their meeting and attended the service in a body out of respect for the departed and for the father, who is a member of the order.

The meeting was opened with a favorite selection of Mr. Glennan's and was followed by the Scriptural reading by Rev. C. C. Kirtland. Rev. F. H. Maar then led in prayer and after a few remarks by Mr. Kirtland, Mr. Roy W. Cloud very briefly told of the departed's boyhood and young manhood. The remarks were based on an intimate personal friendship extending over a period of more than twenty years. Mr. G. P. Hartley, the next speaker, had while principal of the Redwood school been Allie's teacher and in a very feeling manner he spoke of his school life. He told of him as a little fellow who always tried to please the teacher, and also of his later school days when his sole idea was to get all the good he could from his books. The choir, which consisted of a mixed double quartet, rendered an anthem and Mr. Maar was called to tell of the young man's life while a member of the Congregational church. "Allie was essentially a lifting Christian," he said, and was not afraid to take hold of the heavy end. He was always ready to do the big or the little things and took delight in being of service.

Mrs. Meek in a very impressive manner, sang a contralto solo. The last speaker of the evening, the Rev. H. H. Bankham, was Mr. Glennan's pastor at Waimea, H. I. He it was that buried the unfortunate young man. His address was practically the same as he delivered at the Waimea Congregational church the Sunday morning after the funeral. Mr. Banham told briefly of the upright life which Allie had lived, the manner of his untimely end and the high commendation of his employers and the heartfelt praise of his numerous friends in the district.

The congregation then sang "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," which was followed by the choir selection "Good-Night."

The meeting throughout was a very impressive one and the traits of character depicted by the departed young man were pointed out as good ones for the men of every city to emulate and all present felt that the young life had not been lived in vain, but that he had accomplished the work which his Master whom he loved so well, had set for him to do.

CHORAL SOCIETY MEETS.

Have Good Time at Country Home of the Ellsworths.

The Choral Society met with Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth at their country home last Tuesday evening. It was the occasion of the monthly social program given by the members on the first meeting evening of each month. It was by far the most pleasant event in the history of the choral and will be remembered for a long time by those present. The rigs filled with the members of the choral and their friends left town about half past seven, reaching their destination about eight o'clock.

The program for the evening was entirely different from that of the regular meeetings in that there was a distinct effort made to furnish pleasant entertainment instead of practice. The committee is to be congratulated on the selection and arrangement of the evening's program. Dr. Meek, the president of the choral, had charge of the choral, the program of which was as follows:

Vocal Solo	Miss Dodge
Vocal Solo	Dr. Meek
Reading	Mr. Way
Vocal Duet	Mrs. Hanson and Miss Hadler
Vocal Solo	Mrs. Meek
Duet	Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth
Vocal Solo	Miss Gibbons
Vocal Solo	Mr. Fayen
Quartette	Messrs. Bacon and Fayen, Mrs. Bacon, Miss Fox

At the close of the program the guests were invited into the large dining-room where refreshments were served. The remainder of the evening was spent in a social way, the members using this time as a season for becoming better acquainted and comparing plans for future meetings. The evening was hazy for some time but soon the clouds cleared away and the bright moonlight shone out, making it a most delightful time to be out in the night air. The choral has plans for presenting some special selections of high grade music in the churches on Sunday evenings at intervals of about a month. It is to be hoped that these plans will be carried out.

THE BAY SHORE CUT-OFF.

The S. P. Will Have a Shorter Route Out of San Francisco.

An incident which seems to strengthen the belief that work on the bay shore cut-off is about to commence, says the San Mateo Leader, is found in a real estate transaction which recently took place in South San Francisco. The Mariam block, one of the largest structures of that town, has been purchased by the contractors who have secured the job of constructing the new cut-off. The building is admirably fitted for hotel purposes, and as the contract will take several years to complete it, it is thought the purchase was made with a view to provide a place for the housing of the large number of men who will be employed upon the work.

The Chronicle of Thursday says that within a few weeks work on the construction of the long-delayed bay shore cut-off, which is to give the Southern Pacific a shorter and easier route for its coast line out of San Francisco, will be in progress. It was learned yesterday that the Southern Pacific has submitted plans and specifications for the construction work to a large number of railroad contracting firms throughout the country and that seven bids have been received. They all range between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000 for the grading and tunnel work.

There will be five tunnels on the cut-off through the Potrero hills, all of which will be of sufficient size to accommodate two tracks, and the boring of the tunnels will be the principal item of cost in the construction work, although the grading in some places will be extremely heavy. It is leraned that the bids are now in President Harriman's possession, and that their consideration was one of the matters that called Kruttschnitt to New York.

It is expected in local railroad official circles that the contract for the work will be awarded without loss of time, and that construction work may begin within a month or six weeks.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY BUILDING

A Ten Thousand Dollar Bequest for Building Fund.

Through the efforts of the Library Trustees Redwood City is to have a Carnegie library. An application was made to Mr. Carnegie two years ago to erect a building. The trustees were preparing to make another application when a letter was received last Saturday from the private secretary of the Scotch philanthropist saying that Andrew Carnegie would give $10,000 for the building of a library as soon as the Redwood City Trustees passed an ordinance for its maintenance. This the latter will do at their first opportunity. Redwood City may be congratulated on securing this sum to erect another public building that will be a credit to the city and her people as well as a monument to the generosity of Andrew Carnegie. The trustees of the library are engaged in selecting a desirable site for the new building and have one in view which, if purchased, will be satisfactory to all.

Architect Coffey has been communicated with to prepare plans and have them ready at an early date.

A tax of ten cents has been imposed annually for a number of years to provide funds for the present library. This same tax rate on the increased territory of this city will yield $1000, which is all that Mr. Carnegie asks for the support of the new institution.

Thousands Go East.

The Santa Fe is already taking people to St. Louis for the World's Fair. Thousands are asking what rates and accommodations may be had. In San Francisco the city ticket office of the Santa Fe has special clerks answering inquiries that come by mail. Every care is taken to see that details of the lowest priced as well as the most luxurious modes of travel are made plain to each inquirer. If you expect to go East this year, it would be well to address the Santa Fe, 641 Market street, San Francisco; or H. R. Sterne, General Agent, 21 South First street, San Jose.

THE KILTIES.

A Fine Performance and a Very Large Attendance.

The Kilties has came, and from the opening overture of the program, "Wm. Tell," until the closing number, the National Hymn, they commanded the strictest attention and each number won hearty applause which in nearly every instance was rewarded by an encore. As a band the aggregation was exceptionally well drilled and showed up to becoming advantage in their neat Gordon Highlander costumes. The special feature work was all good, the bagpipe playing of Pipe-Major Johnston being especially appreciated by the youngsters. The "Scottish Songs of the North" were exceptionally sweet and "My Highland Laddie" and "Coming Through the Rye" were executed in a very creditable manner. The Scotch reel, in costume, was a feature of the show which was most unique and won well-merited praise that was gracefully responded to. The Kilties choir, composed of fifteen members, did good work and their selections and control of voice-tones were thoroughly enjoyed.

As a whole the entertainment was strictly first-class and reflected great credit upon the band leader, W. F. Robinson, who showed masterly skill in handling his men, as shown in the "Tell overture," the scenes from "Cavaleria Rusticana" and the excerpts from Wagner. That the performance was so well attended goes to prove that the people know how to appreciate something good. It is a fine thing for Redwood to attract such companies as this, and the large audience will probably insure another performance on the next annual tour of the Kilties.

Basket ball Practice.

Basket ball has assumed a fresh activity at Sequoia. Already several practice games have been played, and the closeness of the scores as well as the standard of ball played, showed that there is some splendid material at the local high school. The old grounds in the rear of the grammar school have been put in condition, but the gymnasium will still be utilized. The game has taken a strong hold this year, and there are many candidates for the team. A practice game will be played with the girls of Stanford University some afternoon next week upon the Roble campus. Several years ago Sequoia produced a team that held the cardinal young ladies down to the close score of 3 to 2. Although the high school girls do not aim to surpass this score, the practice will be excellent in rounding the team into shape for a contest with some preparatory school.

Pleaded Guilty.

On Saturday, John Meyer, accused of stealing Mr. Curran's horses, which crime was the cause of the troubles of Gilmore and Rainey, appeared in the Superior Court for arraignment. He pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny and waived the usual legal formalities, stating that he was ready to receive sentence. The District Attorney addressed the Court asking that leniency be shown the prisoner. Judge Buck sentenced Meyer to serve two years at Folsom.

Joseph Klee, who was alleged to have been connected with the theft of the horses, was discharged on motion of the District Attorney.

Will Wed in April.

The engagement is announced of B. M. Choate and Miss Elizabeth Westergreen, two popular young people of this city. The wedding will take place about the middle of next month. The Hadler cottage near Stambaugh street is being repaired and will be occupied by the happy pair. Mr. Choate is one of the trusted employes of the Tacoma Mill Company, an industrious young man of steady habits and an excellent character. The prospective bride is a Redwood City young lady with a host of friends and admirers.

There is a big run of salmon up the San Francisquito creek. The fish are prevented from going farther than the Burke dam owing to the height of that structure. Local Ike Waltons have communicated with the State Fish Commission and a deputy will be here to-morrow to put up a fish ladder. The salmon are seeking the head waters to spawn.

Daniel Duff who formerly resided here has been appointed to a responsible clerkship in the postoffice department at Portland. Some time ago he passed a creditable civil service examination and was placed at the head of the eligible list and when a vacancy occurred he was appointed. The position is a good one and is for life. The numerous friends of Mr. Duff are pleased to learn of his good fortune.

After an absence of over two years Edward Headley dropped in on his friends Thursday evening. During that time he has been engaged on construction work for the Southern Pacific Company in Utah and traveled in nearly all parts of that State. Some time ago he was promoted the responsible position of building inspector for the company. Mr. Headley came near losing his life in an explosion recently and only a few weeks ago was discharged from the railroad hospital.

The Cemetery Association will meet at the parochial residence of Father Lyons Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to examine the accounts and the reports of the committee on subscription. When the pupils are further advanced they will take up the study of Irish music. The members are very enthusiastic and the classes bid fair to make rapid progress in the Celtic language.

The St. Patrick's Day entertainment is the principal topic in Menlo. The announcement of the program has caused a rush for tickets. Everybody wants to hear the distinguished orator of the evening, and lovers of Irish music, dance and song are in ecstacies over the good time coming. The names of three noted farce-producers of San Francisco have been added to the program this week. They are Miss Agnes Rankin, Miss Cecilia Tighe and Frank B. Scully. Miss Nina Haslip, one of the participants in the Irish step-dancing, will render a vocal solo in Irish. Miss Jennie and Master Joseph Kelly will sing "The Dear Little Shamrock" and "Aileen Allanah." Very Absentminded.

The celebrated German historian Theodor Mommsen was the most absentminded of men. Once while going from Berlin to Charlottenburg, a half hour's journey, the trolley car in which he rode went off the track. The rest of the passengers took another car and went ahead, and the stranded vehicle was abandoned till help could be found. Mommsen remained reading his book. An hour or two later the sound of jacks, levers, derricks, etc., aroused him. Rising from his seat, he went to the door and, with the most complete unconcern imaginable, remarked, "I suppose we have come to a standstill!"

The Polite Germans.

We Germans are not only the most polite, but also the most ceremonious people in the world. Without ceremony it is not possible for us to present a friend, to take a seat in a restaurant or to drink or even to utter a single word. Consequently a people like the British, which ignores and utterly disregards these customs, must appear to us a herd of lubbers.—Frankfurter Zeitung.

A Line of Action.

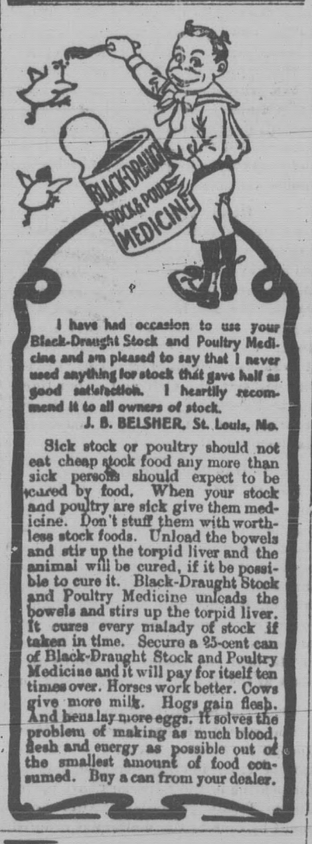
"You see," said the young lawyer, "my client is accused of bigamy, and he's guilty; so I hardly know how to defend him."

"Why, that's easy," said the old lawyer. "Defend him on the ground of insanity and get a few henpecked husbands on the jury."—Puck.

Cause For Worry.

She—Why do you look so worried, Bertie? Did papa object?

Bertie—No. But he said: "It's all right. You'll soon find out it's useless to object when Nell is set on anything."



I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

Evolution of the Folding Bed.

Mrs. De Flat—Have you anything new in folding beds?

Dealer—Only this, madam, and it really is quite a success. On arising in the morning you touch a spring and it turns into a washstand and bathtub. After your bath, you touch another spring, and it becomes a dressing case, with a French plate mirror. If you breakfast in your room, a slight pressure will transform it into an extension table. After breakfast, you press these three buttons at once and you have an upright piano. That's all it will do, except that when you die it can be changed into a rosewood coffin.—New York Weekly.

He was a philosopher and a talker. She was a woman of action. They stood together on the bridge and watched a tug that was hauling a long line of barges up the river.

His wife gave him no time to finish the sentence. "I know," she said. "The tug does all the blowing and the barges bear all the burden."

The Official Time.

Jerrold—As I was saying, I had $50 on Topnotch at 100 to 1. The race was six furlongs and Topnotch won.

Harold—What was the time?

Jerrold—Why—er—I heard the clock strike 2 just as I woke up!—Puck.

SAMURAI AND JIU-JITSU.

The Most Wonderful System of Athletics In the World.

More than 2,500 years ago there sprang into existence in Japan an order of knights who were known as the samurai. To them was imparted all the learning, the polite breeding and the forms of superiority that mark the gentleman. They were skilled in arms and versed in the arts of war, for they were the emperor's fighting men, and none but they were allowed to bear arms.

As there could not always be war on hand, and as it was considered beneath the dignity of the samurai to go into any ordinary callings, it came about naturally that these little knights found much idle time on their hands. Being men of war, they turned their attention to athletic feats.

One among the samurai conceived the idea of learning by practice the location of every sensitive nerve and muscle in the body. After that he discovered all the joints of the bones that could be seized in such a way as to give momentary power over the muscles of an adversary. He practiced with his fellow samurai, and thus by degrees was developed the most wonderful system of athletics known in the world.

The Japanese call this work jiu-jitsu. The deft pressures applied in the practice of jiu-jitsu produce only momentary pain, but do not really injure the muscles or nerves. In all other things the Japanese are the most polite people in the world. So it follows that even in their fighting they have developed a humane yet effective method of self defense. They do not strike out with the clinched fist and seek to bruise, as do the Anglo-Saxons in their boxing contests.

A knowledge of jiu-jitsu enables one almost instantly to convince his opponent that it is useless to fight. There are now schools of jiu-jitsu everywhere in Japan. Every soldier, sailor and policeman is obliged to perfect himself in the system. A Japanese policeman, possessed of the art, has been known single handed to reduce to submission and to take to the police station four sturdy sailors of a foreign Asiatic squadron.—St. Nicholas.

A FEW HOGS.

A hog is a person who sits sideways in a car where other passengers are standing.

A hog is a person who jams his suit case in front of you at the railway station so as to get your place in the line to the gate.

A hog is a person who "breaks in" while you are negotiating in a store and takes the attention of the salesman or saleswoman away from you.

A hog is a person who opens his window in the railway car and allows dust and cinders to fly in the face of the passengers behind, though he would not tolerate an open window at the seat next in front.

A hog is a person who insists on discussing "the mutability of human affairs" with the ticket seller at the theater when there is a long "Indian file" in his rear and the curtain is about to be rung up on the performance.—Cincinnati Commercial.

England's First Railroad.

The traveling on the first railroad in England was not very comfortable undoubtedly. The coaches were at first only coupled with chains, as wagons are now, so that they jerked the unfortunate passengers nearly off their seats at starting and clashed violently against each other when the driver put on his brake. When fairly in motion, if the speed was any but the slowest, the very short wheel base produced a pitching action so trying that if the journey had not been a short one it would have seriously affected the popularity of the railway as a means of passenger transit.

Definition of Greatness.

"Don't you sometimes think you would be a greater man if you were to cultivate the art of oratory?"

"I don't know," answered Senator Sorghum. "A great man, as you know, is one who gets mentioned in the schoolbooks after he is dead instead of the financial columns of the newspapers while he is living."—Washington Star.

Hold Out Your Chest.

Nowadays we are told "Hold out your chest" and not "Throw back your shoulders." The shoulders will take care of themselves if the chest is held well up.—Maxwell's Talisman.

The Flue.

"Did Slickun's house catch fire from a defective flue?"

"No; an effective one. He had it insured for twice its real value."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Don't contest a will if it is a woman's.—Lowell Citizen.

THIN PEOPLE

want to get fat and fat people want to get thin—human nature. If you are fat don't take Scott's Emulsion. It will make you gain flesh. If you are thin Scott's Emulsion is just what you need.

It is one of the greatest flesh producers known. Not temporary gains but healthy, solid flesh that will fill out the body where it is needed.

There's nothing better than Scott's Emulsion for weakness and wasting.

Scott's Emulsion is a food-medicine; not a stimulant; not a mere "extract" or so-called "wine" of cod liver oil. It contains the whole oil perfectly emulsified, which is the only way of preserving its valuable properties.

WORSHIPED AS A GOD.

An English General Who Was Deified by East Indians.

John Nicholson, British colonel and brigadier general was once worshiped as a god. He was the eldest son of Alexander Nicholson, a physician of Dublin. This gallant soldier distinguished himself in the Punjab campaign of 1848-49, when he was appointed a deputy commissioner of the annexed Punjab under Sir Henry Lawrence. At Bannu, dealing wisely with an ignorant and bloodthirsty people, he evolved in the course of five years such order and respect for law that murder and highway robbery, previously so rife, were unknown in the district.

He so impressed his powerful personality on the natives that he became to them a demigod, and in Hazara a brotherhood of fakirs in 1848 instituted a religious cult for the worship of "Nikal-Seyn," which continued to flourish in spite of Nicholson's efforts to suppress it even by punishment.

At a moment of victory during the siege of Delhi in 1857 this hero fell mortally wounded in the street while leading his men. He died a few days later on the 23d of September, 1857, and was buried in front of the Kashmir gate.
